

CHESTER RESTS CASE AT 11.40 A. M.

ECKENER SAYS GRAF FIRM TO START SERVICE

Big Ship To Leave Lakehurst
At Midnight Wednesday
For World Flight.

By David P. Sentner
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 6.—
The Graf Zeppelin, Columbus of Alachua, today continued to gulp draughts of hydrogen and in a race against time for her swing around the circuit.

"We shall start at midnight tomorrow for our trip around the world," said Commander Hugo Eckener.

Lieut. Commander Zeno Wicks,
executive officer of the U. S. Naval airport, promised to have the German dirigible refueled by noon
tomorrow, but the eight-hour shifts of American gobs feeding the mammoth of the kites have found it exceedingly hungry. More than a half million cubic feet of hydrogen is needed to offset the gas sustained by the balloons of the big bag in the dirigible's four-day flight from Friedrichshafen.

En route to New York City for a last conference on his world-grinding adventure, Dr. Eckener will attempt to evade the customary demonstrations which the Metropolis accords to heroes of the land and sea and air.

When told that Mayor Jimmie Walker had invited him to the City Hall, the Zeppelin skipper
said:

"I would like to see Mayor Walker but I am afraid I shall be too busy."

Dr. Eckener declared that he expected the round-the-world trip would completely demonstrate the safety and practicability of Zeppelins as a carrier of passengers and cargo.

He also revealed that a new airship, the "Trans-Atlantic" Zeppelin, was being built.

Within two years we hope to have completed our plans for a regular "Trans-Atlantic" Zeppelin service," he said.

Here is a word blueprint comparison of the newly planned dirigible with the Graf Zeppelin:
Not so long but much thicker.
Eight engines instead of five.
Twelve miles an hour faster,
with a cruising speed of 82 miles an hour.

Capacity for 24 passengers instead of 20.
Two radio systems—one for weather reports and another for use of passengers.

A smoking room. (Smoking is taboo on the Graf.)
The use of Helium as soon as available instead of Hydrogen.

TO BUILD SHIPS
The construction of this air vessel only awaits the completion of new hanger in Friedrichshafen, Dr.
Eckener said. The American base will probably be near some southern coastal city, anywhere from Baltimore southward, according to the Graf Zeppelin commander.

"Meteorological conditions for airships are unsatisfactory in northern fields such as Lakehurst," he declared. "The most dangerous part of dirigible operation is in getting it out and in to the hangar and there must be the least interference from the weather possible."

The 18 daring passengers for the world flight of the Zep will pay $9,000 apiece for their study of international geography.

The booking includes Joachim Rickard, of Boston, who just arrived via the dirigible from Friedrichshafen; Lady Drummond Hay, who made the voyage here last October. Otto Hillig, of Liberty,
N. Y.; and Karl von Wiegand.
Lady Hay and Von Wiegand represent the Hearst publications.

Those who will make the trip
from Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen,
the first bracket of the world
circle include Morris Shumovsky,
of New Rochelle; Nathan Wixler
and William Weber, hotel owners,
of New York City, who plan to return here in the new 100-passenger British Dornier airplane; Herman Schlatter, of Philadelphia;
Dr. Walter Shless, of Berlin and
Dr. Leiser Kiep, New York manager of the Hamburg-American.

Free stops will be made before the dirigible's expected return to Lakehurst Sept. 3 or 4. They will be Friedrichshafen, Tokyo and Los Angeles.

"The sector from Friedrichshafen to Tokyo will be our most difficult one," said Dr. Eckener.
"This region is uncharted and we will have no air maps nor will we have the benefit of weather reports along the 4,600 mile route."

Poisoned Girl Found In Chillicothe Field

Considerable mystery surrounded the case of Miss Roxy Price,
17-year-old Chillicothe girl, who is
in the Chillicothe hospital suffering from what, police say, was an
administration of poison.

The thought that a murder similar to the Snook-Hix case had
been committed came to Sheriff
Fox Sunday when Frank Ritter,
Marietta-pk farmer, called him
and said two men had found the body of a young girl lying along Lovers Lane, near Chillicothe.

The sheriff was told to bring
the coroner that the girl was dead.
The coroner could not be located
and with an ambulance the sheriff hurried to the scene. Finding the girl, breathing, but unconscious, she was loaded into the ambulance and taken to the hospital.

Clarence Rowland, Marietta-pk
and William Cole, Columbus, told
the sheriff they found the girl lying in the weeds along a fence.
Tracks leading to the spot where
she was found showed the sheriff
that she had been dragged there.

After she had been attended at
the City hospital she began vomiting a mixture said by physicians
to be whiskey. She rallied and
was able to tell attendants her
name and her address. The girls
father was notified and said that she had been keeping company with Theodore Newman, who had been living with his parents on a farm near Chillicothe.

Miss Price told officials of being
picked up in the city park by a
strange youth who offered to

In Again, Out Again, Back Again

"No sooner out than in" were
the words that were applied to
William Amos, who was arrested
Monday afternoon just after being released from the city prison.

Amos had made an agreement
to pay his fine of $5 for disorderly
conduct and was released from prison.

After being released from the
dark and dreary dungeon Amos
went to a restaurant to get a feed.
After eating, Amos wrote a check
and handed it to the cashier who
accepted it and gave him some change back. Not being satisfied with the clothes he was wearing
he went to a clothing store to get some clothes and he also gave a check.

The Circleville banks got hold of
the checks shortly after and informed the sheriff's office. Deputy Fussell immediately investigated,
arrested Amos, and placed him in the county jail. It was learned
by Sheriff Davis that Amos was wanted by Portsmouth authorities
on a like charge.

Wojeichowski was captured by an armed squad of Cleveland police in the same neighborhood
where less than a year ago Paul Jaworski, notorious Pennsylvania
bandit, was seized after killing one
policeman in a desperate attempt
to shoot his way to freedom.

The escaped prisoner was found
sitting on the lawn nearby the
house talking to his cousin, Mike Shipka, Jr. Wojeichowski said he had come here to visit his wife and
two children that he had been "lying low" at his cousin's home because he feared the house where
his wife was staying was being watched.

OFFERS NO FIGHT
Although Wojeichowski offered
no resistance, a kitchen knife
was found on his person.

Wojeichowski had served seven
years of a 15-year sentence for the
robbery of a Buffalo saloon, according to local police. He would have been eligible for parole in
two years.

The escaped prisoner said he had been in Cleveland for about a week. He was wearing a neat gray
suit at the time of his capture.
Wojeichowski declined to "break
confidences" and tell authorities
here he had obtained the money
for his transportation here or how
he had exchanged his prison garb
for his business suit.

JUDGE AT SHOW
Dr. B. R. Bales of W. Mount-st. acted as judge Sunday at the second annual gladiolus show held in Lancaster. He said it was the best "glad" show held yet in Lancaster.

He exhibited some of his own
varieties, from the Triangle Farms, and had a show of his own, which attracted thousands of visitors.

ASKS DIVORCE
Harry Shephard Circleville, filed petition for divorce against Elizabeth Shephard in common pleas court Monday, charging the defendant with gross neglect.

A summons has been issued to Sam Birchwell, father of the defendant. I. F. Snyder represents the plaintiff.

VOLL IMPROVES
J. B. Voll who has been confined to his home as the result of an attack of intestinal grippe, is very much improved.

ACCUSE U. S. OF TRYING TO WIN RAILWAY

Say Stimson Sent Note to Other Powers to Eject Soviet
From Manchuria.

MOSCOW, Aug. 6.—Allegations
were made in official circles here
today that the United States is
involved in an "International Conspiracy" which has the following
ends in view:

- 1.—Permanent ejection of Soviet Russians from Manchuria;
- 2.—Increase the future hold of
the Chinese Nationalist (Nanking)
government upon Manchuria;
- 3.—"Imperialistic expansion of America" in Manchuria;
- 4.—Internationalization of the Chinese Eastern Railway and subsequent American control through
loans to the road;
- 5.—Selection of a citizen of a disinterested power, possibly Germany of Italy, as manager of the railway.

A previous accusation by the Soviets that the seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway by the Chinese was part of an anti-Soviet conspiracy was recalled today
by publication of a dispatch bearing a Vienna date. Soviet officials
claim it substantiates allegations
previously made concerning the conspiracy.

SENT CIRCULAR
This Vienna dispatch claimed
that Secretary of State Stimson,
on July 25, sent from Washington
a secret circular note to Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy and Germany suggesting the formation
of a six power mediation commission to settle the Sino-Russian
dispute.

While the commission is sitting
to select a Chinese Eastern Railway manager from a power "not directly interested in China,"
presumably Germany or Italy, the Soviets charge that a plot will be afoot to internationalize the railroad.

The "disclosures" of the Vienna
telegram were followed by attacks
against the United States, both
written and verbal.

Secretary of State Stimson was accused of "using the Pacific
Kellogg pact as a smoke screen
to cloak American imperialism
and expansion in Manchuria."

U. S. TO LEND CASH
The official newspaper Izvestia
declared that "once the Chinese Eastern Railway is international-ized, the United States will lend
it money to obtain control."

Reports from Chinese sources
that Boris Melnikoff, Soviet Consul General at Harbin, and Tsai
Yun Sheng, Manchurian commissioner of foreign affairs, are conducting "preliminary negotiations"
were officially denied. It was announced that Tsai tried to arrange to see Melnikoff on August
4, but his request was rejected.

ABDUCTION IS CHARGED
Local Man Said To Have Taken Daughter From Grandmother.

Ira Armspaugh, Circleville,
pleaded not guilty to the charge of
kidnapping his daughter, Mae,
aged 14, who lives with her grand-
mother, Mrs. Jennie Erick, Lancaster, before Mayor Hastings of Lancaster and was released for
trial in his own recognizance.

Armspaugh was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Fussell on request
of Lancaster officials and was taken to that city for questioning
where it is said he took his child
away in an automobile.

REV. SALMON HERE
Rev. Mark Salmon, familiarly
known as the "Wandering Jew,"
will speak at the Church of Christ, E. Ohio-st., at prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Salmon has been visiting
the camp meeting at Stoutsville.
The public is cordially invited.

WOMAN IMPROVES
Mrs. Elizabeth Haines who was injured Saturday when knocked
down by an automobile at the corner of Main and Scioto-sts., is feeling well. Torn ligaments in her ankle are giving her trouble,
in addition to other bruises.

SCARLETT LETS CHESTER SHOW HIS PICTURE

Uses All Evidence of Murder and Makes Great Impression On Jury.

By JAMES L. KILGALLIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O.,
Aug. 6.—The state rested its case
at 11:40 this morning at the trial
of Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State university professor,
for the slaying of Theora Hix,
pretty young co-ed. Two witnesses had testified in the state.

Before closing its case the state
scored an important point by introducing in having introduced evidence a face portrait of Theora
Hix. It revealed her as a beautifully sweet-looking girl with an aristocratic looking profile. It
was admitted over vigorous protests by the defense and was passed around to the jurors.

SHOWS EVIDENCE
As a final gesture in closing his
case, Prosecutor John J. Chester
Jr., introduced as evidence Miss Hix's blood-stained brown crepe
dress; her slashed garter belt; her
grey silk stockings; her wrist
watch that had stopped at two
minutes to 10 p. m. on the night
of June 13; pictures taken of her lying beaten to death on the lawn
rifle range; a picture of Theora injured hand; the bloody hammer
chief clutched in Theora's hand
when she was struck down.

Snook's blood-stained clothing; the key to the "love nest"; Snook intained for Theora; two bottles alleged to contain a sex-acting
drug and finally the bloodstained
hammer and knife, used in the killing.

Subsequent to his arrest, the prisoners' dock, averted his face
as Prosecutor Chester held up the ghastly exhibits, one by one, to the jury.

ALLOW PICTURE
Defense attorneys were on their
feet when Prosecutor Chester
started to introduce the face picture of Miss Hix, the best friend
of her that has been obtained.

"We object to the introduction
of the picture on the ground that it is prejudicial," declared E. O.
Ricketts. "And further the question of identity of Miss Hix is not
the issue."

Prosecutor Chester replied that the photograph was a "fair likeness" of her at the time of her death and should not be withheld
from the jury. He could not say exactly what date the photograph
was taken but when defense Attorney Max C. Seyfert volunteered
the information it was taken in July, 1928. The prosecutor said
he would accept that date as correct.

Judge Henry L. Scarlett finally
admitted the photograph and
Chester passed it to the jurors.

Court was adjourned at noon until 1:30 this afternoon when the
defense will launch its fight to
save Snook from the electric chair.
The defense, during the battle,
is expected to bring to light what it claims to be the real motive for
which Snook killed the co-ed,
which has been a moot question
since June 13.

SHOW HAMMER
The hammer with which Theora
Hix was beaten on the night she was slain was shown to the jury
by the first witness called this
morning. He was County Detective Howard Lavelly who told of
going to Snook's home after the
latter's arrest and getting the hammer and a pen knife. The knife had been used to slit the girl's throat.

"I was sent to the Snook home
by the Prosecutor," Lavelly related.

"I found the hammer and knife
in a tool box. There still was
some blood on the hammer."
"When I returned to the jail
I joked with Snook, I said: 'You
didn't wash that hammer very well.' He replied, 'No, he had not; that he merely turned on the faucet.'"

At the suggestion of Prosecu-
tor John J. Chester Jr., Lavelly
left the stand and, walking to and from before the jury, showed them discolorations on the hammer.

On cross-examination Detective
Lavelly was asked by Defense Attorney Max C. Seyfert concerning
the grilling of Snook by the police before he confessed.

"Did anybody abuse Dr. Snook?" Seyfert asked.
"No."
"You didn't abuse him?"
Seyfert asked.
Seyfert questioned Lavelly at

Roush Takes Position of East Indian Agent For American Cyanamid Firm

Leaves For New York Aug.
15, Was Instructor of Agriculture Here.

Ulric C. Roush, instructor of vocational agriculture in the Salt-
creek, Pickaway and Jackson-twp
schools for the past year, has resigned and has accepted a position with the American Cyanamid
Co., New York, makers of synthetic nitrogen.

The resignation will take effect
on August 15. Mr. Roush
will go to New York City, headquarters of the company, Sept. 1,
where he will remain for a short
time.

From there he will sail for the
Far East. In the Dutch East
Indies and the Federated Malay
States, he will establish fertilizer
plots on tea, coffee, rubber, rice
and other tropical plants, using a
new fertilizer.

That part of the globe is not
new to Mr. Roush because he has been there before, and recalls the climate as particularly delightful.
The ocean trip will be completed
in 35 days.

The Dutch East Indies include
the island of Java, Sumatra and
others, and are controlled by the Dutch. The Federated Malay
States of which Singapore is the capital, occupy the entire Malay
peninsula and are controlled by the British.

The American Cyanamid Co.
built the first Nitrate plant at Stoutsville.

ATTEND REUNION
More than 500 attended the 31st
annual Spanish War Veterans' reunion held Monday in Lancaster at the fair grounds. The affair was sponsored by the men who served with Co. I of Lancaster, Fourth
O. V. I.

Those attending from Circleville were C. M. Tuttle, J. P. Palm Mr. and Mrs. Fred Donnelly Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shaeffer, James
Bauchman Jr. and Mrs. B. B.
Bales and C. Edward Wright. All of these men are members of Company M. O. V. I.

Rev. Salmon has been visiting
the camp meeting at Stoutsville.
The public is cordially invited.

THREE PAY FINES
Probate Judge E. A. Brown assessed three fines Monday for three Circleville persons for the insurrection of intoxicating liquid.

Each paid his fine and was released from the county jail. These
were, Miss Gladys Brown $150
and costs for possession of Wilson and George Green each $25 and costs.

Big Ship To Leave Lakehurst
At Midnight Wednesday
For World Flight.

By David P. Sentner

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 6.—
The Graf Zeppelin, Columbus of

Poisoned Girl Found In Chillicothe Field

Considerable mystery surround-
ed the case of Miss Roxy Price,
17-year-old Chillicothe girl, who is
in the Chillicothe hospital suffering from what, police say, was an
administration of poison.

The thought that a murder similar to the Snook-Hix case had
been committed came to Sheriff
Fox Sunday when Frank Ritter,
Marietta-pk farmer, called him
and said two men had found the
Lovers' Lane, near Chillicothe.

The sheriff was told to bring
the coroner that the girl was dead.
The coroner could not be located
and with an ambulance the sheriff
hurried to the scene. Finding the girl breathing, but unconscious, she was loaded into the ambulance and taken to the hospital.

Clarence Rowland, Marietta-pk
and William Cole, Columbus, told
the sheriff they found the girl lying in the weeds along a fence.
Tracks leading to the spot where
she was found showed the sheriff
that she had been dragged there.

After she had been attended at
the City hospital she began vomit-
ing a mixture said by physicians
to be whiskey. She rallied and
was able to tell attendants her
name and her address. The girls
father was notified and said that
she had been keeping company with Theodore Newman, who had been living with his parents on a farm near Chillicothe.

Miss Price told officials of being
picked up in the city park by a
strange youth who offered to take her to Hopetown. She said the young man stopped at a house along the road and bought some whiskey which he made her drink.

"No sooner out than in" were
the words that were applied to
William Amos, who was arrested
Monday afternoon just after being
released from the city prison.

Amos had made an agreement
to pay his fine of $5 for disorderly
conduct and was released from prison.

After being released from the
dark and dreary dungeon Amos
went to a restaurant to get a feed.
After eating, Amos wrote a check
and handed it to the cashier who
accepted it and gave him some
change back. Not being satisfied
with the clothes he was wearing
he went to a clothing store to get
check.

The Circleville banks got hold of
the checks shortly after and informed the sheriff's office. Deputy Fissell immediately investigated,
arrested Amos, and placed him in
the county jail. It was learned
by Sheriff Davis that Amos was
wanted by Portsmouth authorities
on a like charge.

an armed squad of Cleveland police in the same neighborhood
where less than a year ago Paul
Jaworski, notorious Pennsylvania
bandit, was seized after killing one
policeman in a desperate attempt
to shoot his way to freedom.

The escaped prisoner was found
sitting on the lawn nearby the
house talking to his cousin, Mike Shipka, Jr. Wojeichowski said he had come here to visit his wife and
two children that he had been "lying low" at his cousin's home because he feared the house where
his wife was staying was being
watched.

OFFERS NO FIGHT
Although Wojeichowski offered
no resistance, a kitchen knife
was found on his person.

years of a 15-year sentence for the
robbery of a Buffalo saloon, according to local police. He would have been eligible for parole in
two years.

The escaped prisoner said he
had been in Cleveland for about a
week. He was wearing a neat gray
suit at the time of his capture.
Wojeichowski declined to "break
confidences" and tell authorities
here he had obtained the money
for his transportation here or how
he had exchanged his prison garb
for his business suit.

ACCUSE U. S. OF TRYING TO WIN RAILWAY

er Powers to Eject Soviet
From Manchuria.

MOSCOW, Aug. 6.—Allegations
were made in official circles here
today that the United States is
involved in an "International Conspiracy" which has the following
ends in view:

- 1.—Permanent ejection of Soviet Russians from Manchuria;
- 2.—Increase the future hold of
the Chinese Nationalist (Nanking)
government upon Manchuria;
- 3.—"Imperialistic expansion of America" in Manchuria;
- 4.—Internationalization of the Chinese Eastern Railway and subsequent American control through
loans to the road;
- 5.—Selection of a citizen of a
disinterested power, possibly Germany of Italy, as manager of the railway.

A previous accusation by the
Chinese Eastern Railway by the Chinese was part of an anti-Soviet conspiracy was recalled today
by publication of a dispatch bearing a Vienna date. Soviet officials
claim it substantiates allegations
previously made concerning the
conspiracy.

SENT CIRCULAR
This Vienna dispatch claimed
that Secretary of State Stimson,
on July 25, sent from Washington
a secret circular note to Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy and Germany suggesting the formation
of a six power mediation commission to settle the Sino-Russian
dispute.

While the commission is sitting
to select a Chinese Eastern Rail-
way manager from a power "not
directly interested in China,"
presumably Germany or Italy, the Soviets charge that a plot will be
afoot to internationalize the railroad.

The "disclosures" of the Vienna
telegram were followed by attacks
against the United States, both
written and verbal.

Secretary of State Stimson was
accused of "using the Pacific
Kellogg pact as a smoke screen
to cloak American imperialism
and expansion in Manchuria."

U. S. TO LEND CASH
The official newspaper Izvestia
declared that "once the Chinese Eastern Railway is internationalized, the United States will lend
it money to obtain control."

that Boris Melnikoff, Soviet Con-
sul General at Harbin, and Tsai
Yun Sheng, Manchurian commissioner of foreign affairs, are conducting "preliminary negotiations"
were officially denied. It was announced that Tsai tried to arrange to see Melnikoff on August
4, but his request was rejected.

ABDUCTION IS CHARGED
Local Man Said To Have Taken Daughter From Grandmother.

Ira Armspaugh, Circleville,
pleaded not guilty to the charge of
kidnapping his daughter, Mae,
aged 14, who lives with her grand-
mother, Mrs. Jennie Erick, Lancaster, before Mayor Hastings of Lancaster and was released for
trial in his own recognizance.

Deputy Sheriff Fissell on request
of Lancaster officials and was taken to that city for questioning,
where it is said he took his child
away in an automobile.

REV. SALMON HERE
Rev. Mark Salmon, familiarly
known as the "Wandering Jew,"
will speak at the Church of Christ, E. Ohio-st., at prayer
meeting Wednesday evening at 8
o'clock.

Rev. Salmon has been visiting
the camp meeting at Stoutsville.
The public is cordially invited.

injured Saturday when knocked
down by an automobile at the corner of Main and Scioto-sts., is resting well. Torn ligaments in her ankle are giving her trouble

Leaves For New York Aug.
15, Was Instructor of Agriculture Here.

Ulrice C. Roush, instructor of vocational agriculture in the Salt-
creek, Pickaway and Jackson-twp
schools for the past year, has resigned and has accepted a position with the American Cyanamid
Co., New York, makers of syn-
thetic nitrogen.

on August 15. Mr. Roush
will go to New York City, headquarters of the company, Sept. 1,
where he will remain for a short
time.

From there he will sail for the
Far East. In the Dutch East
Indies and the Federated Malay
States, he will establish fertilizer
plots on tea, coffee, rubber, rice
and other tropical plants, using a
new fertilizer.

That part of the globe is not
new to Mr. Roush because he has
been there before, and recalls the
climate as particularly delightful.
The ocean trip will be completed
in 35 days.

The Dutch East Indies include
the island of Java, Sumatra and
others, and are controlled by the Dutch. The Federated Malay
States of which Singapore is the
capital, occupy the entire Malay
peninsula and are controlled by

Circleville persons for the possession of intoxicating liquor.

Each paid his fine and was re-
were: Miss Gladys Brown, $150
and costs for possession; William Carrett and George Greene, each
$25 and costs.

SCARLETT LETS CHESTER SHOW HIX PICTURE

Uses All Evidence of Mur-
pression On Jury.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O.,
Aug. 6.—The state rested its case
of Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State university professor,
for the slaying of Theora Hix,
pretty young co-ed. Twenty-one witnesses had testified for the state.

Before closing its case the state
scored an important point by succeeding in having introduced as evidence a face portrait of Miss Hix. It revealed her to be a decidedly sweet-looking girl, with an aristocratic looking profile. It
was admitted over vigorous protests by the defense and was

SHOWS EVIDENCE
As a final gesture in closing his
case, Prosecutor John J. Chester introduced as evidence Miss Hix's blood-stained brown crepe
dress; her slashed garter belt; her
grey silk stockings; her wrist
watch that had stopped at two
minutes to 10 p. m., on the night
of June 13; pictures taken of her
lying beaten to death on the lonely rifle range; a picture of Snook's injured hand; the bloody handkerchief clutched in Theora's hand
when she was struck down; Snook's blood-stained clothing; the key to the "love nest" Snook maintained for Theora; two bottles alleged to contain a sex-exciting
drug and finally the bloodstained
hammer and knife used in the killing.

Snook, slumped in his chair in the prisoners' dock, averted his gaze as Prosecutor Chester held up the ghastly exhibits, one by one,
before the jury.

ALLOW PICTURE
Defense attorneys were on their
feet when Prosecutor Chester
started to introduce the face portrait of Miss Hix, the best likeness
of her that has been obtained.

"We object to the introduction
of the picture on the ground that
it is prejudicial," declared E. O.
Ricketts. "And further the question of identity of Miss Hix is not
the issue."

Prosecutor Chester replied that the photograph was a "fair likeness" of her at the time of her death and should not be withheld
from the jury. He could not say
exactly what date the photograph
was taken but when defense Attorney Max C. Seyfert volunteered
the information it was taken in July, 1928. The prosecutor said
he would accept that date as correct.

Judge Henry L. Scarlett finally
admitted the photograph and
Chester passed it to the jurors.

Court was adjourned at noon until 1:30 this afternoon when the
defense will launch its fight to
save Snook from the electric chair.
The defense, during the battle, is expected to bring to light what it claims to be the real motive for
which Snook killed the co-ed,
which has been a moot question
since June 13.

SHOW HAMMER
The hammer with which Theora
Hix was slain was shown to the jury
by the first witness called this
morning. He was County Detective Howard Lavelly who told of
going to Snook's home after the
latter's arrest and getting the
hammer and a pen knife. The
knife had been used to slit the
girl's throat.

"I was sent to the Snook home
by the Prosecutor," Lavelly related.

"I found the hammer and knife
in a tool box. There still was
some blood on the hammer."

"When I returned to the jail
I joked with Snook, I said: 'You
didn't wash that hammer very
well.' He replied, 'No, he had not, that he merely turned on the faucet.'"

At the suggestion of Prosecu-
tor John J. Chester Jr., Lavelly
left the stand and, walking to and fro before the jury, showed them discolorations on the hammer.

On cross-examination Detective
Lavelly was asked by Defense Attorney Max C. Seyfert concerning
the grilling of Snook by the police before he confessed.

"Did anybody abuse Dr. Snook?"
Seyfert asked.

"No."
"You didn't abuse him?"

"I did not,"
Seyfert questioned Lavelly at

COLAS EDGE WARD'S, 9-8

Overcome Seven Run Lead To Hold Lead Over C. A. C. Who Beat Merchants.

In the closest and most exciting game played so far in the Recreation ball league, the Coca-Cola, the league leaders, defeated the newly organized Ward's Ten 9 to 8.

The general idea up to the sixth inning was that Ward's Ten had won by a walk-away, but it started swatting the ball.

In the sixth inning the score was 7 to 0 in favor of Doggy's Ten but for some reason the deputy's team couldn't reach those high and fast balls that said out into the infield. At the start of the game Ward's Ten played very tight ball, only allowing one man to get to third base. But the situation changed in the eighth and ninth innings when the bottlers scored seven runs.

A new pitcher was introduced last evening. He is "Red" Owens who now pitches for the deputy's ten. He pitched a fine game only allowing four or five men to gain a base on a walk. Lynch for the bottlers also pitched nice ball. The Coca-Cola continue to pile up a higher percentage in first place.

HARRISBURG SHOOT

The annual homecoming shoot of the Harrisburg Gun Club will be held Wednesday, Aug. 7, according to an announcement made today.

The program will consist of eight events of 20 targets each. An entrance fee of $4 is being charged while an optional fee of $1.50 is being charged for each event. Money taken in is to be divided on the percentage basis.

It is expected that numerous Circleville and Pickaway-co shooters will attend the meet.

Indian Tribes Shifted
From 1817 to 1840, the great southern tribes of Indians were removed to the Indian territory from Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi. These tribes were the Cherokees, Choctaws, Chickasaws, Creeks and Seminoles. These Indians held slaves and during the Civil war all of these tribes joined the Confederacy. They were compelled by the treaties of 1865 to cede to the United States much of their western lands upon which they had established no settlements, as a home for friendly Indians of other tribes.

LANCASTER MAN SPEAKS UP

"Hoyt's Compound Nas No Equal." He Says: Now Free of Misery.

MR. FRED B. MAST

"It is my honest opinion that this Hoyt's Compound HAS NO EQUAL in the realm of medicines and has surely made me feel 100% better and I am glad to endorse it to others who suffer," declared Mr. Fred B. Mast, 281 North Columbus street, Lancaster, Ohio.

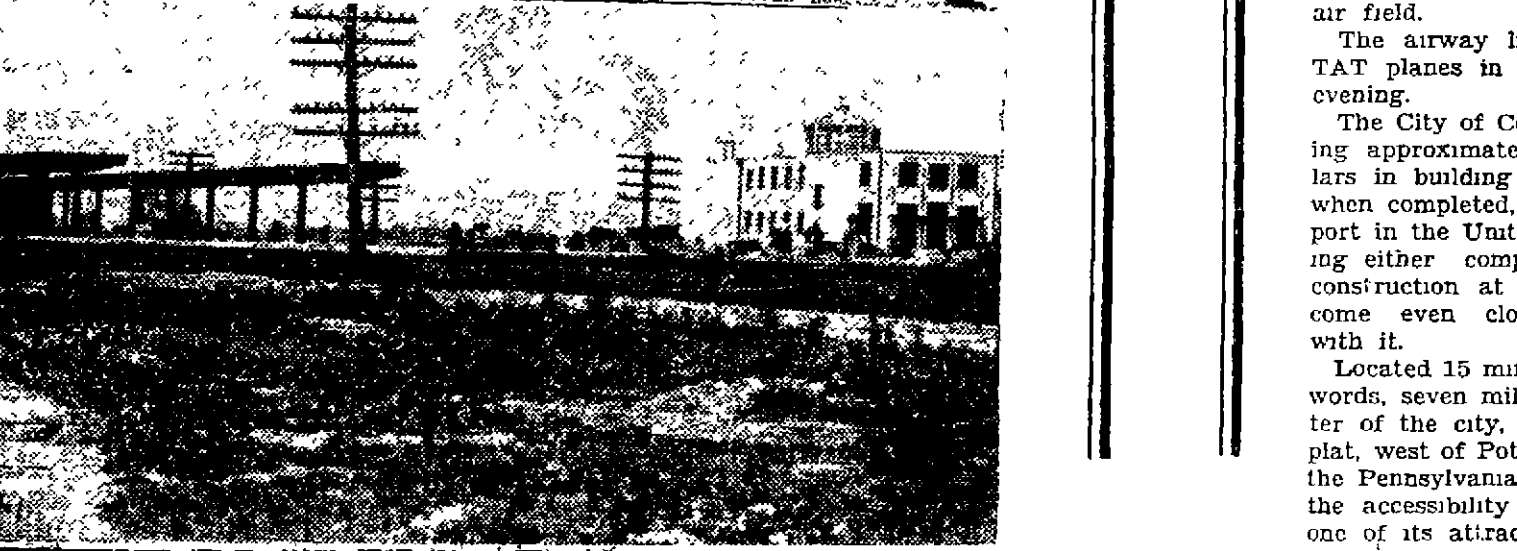

"For three years I suffered because of stomach trouble. My food would not digest properly and I would just lay in my stomach and sour causing gas to form and would swell up so much at times that I would be troubled with heart. I would get short of breath and severe pains would shoot through to the pit of my stomach causing acid misery and suffering. Hoyt's Compound quickly ENDED MY MISERY and made me like a different person. It has regularity to my bowels perfectly and I never have any more of that awful stomach misery. I feel that I owe the world a statement to the people that has restored me to NEW and BETTER health."

Hoyt's Compound is sold in Circleville at W. H. Drug Store and by all the leading druggists in surrounding towns. -Adv.

Virginia Democrats Cast Votes In Primary for Candidates for Governor

"Cannonites" Have Already Named Selection For November Election.

RICHMOND, VA., Aug. 6.—(IN S)—Virginia Democrats—those who did not bolt the Smith ticket last November—went to the polls today in statewide primary to nominate a candidate for governor.

Today's nominee will oppose next November the coalition of Republicans and anti-Smith Democrats, or "Cannonites," who have already nominated Prof. William Mosely Brown. There are three candidates in today's contest, John C. Pollard, G. Walter Mapp, and Roswell Page.

Pollard is the favorite, but if any considerable number of Bishop Cannon's anti-Smith followers invade the balloting today it will admittedly aid Mapp's candidacy. Page is given only an outside chance.

The Rev. David Hepburn, state superintendent of the anti-Saloon League, and one of Bishop Cannon's active political lieutenants has openly urged the Democratic bolters to go into today's primary.

Despite the intense feelings engendered in this most involved political situation the leaders do not anticipate a heavy vote. The real showdown will come in November when today's nominee and Prof. Brown go to the mat in a contest that probably will determine the future political leadership of Bishop Cannon.

Great Cuban Harbor

Guantanamo bay, Cuba, the winter rendezvous of the navy ships stationed on the Atlantic side of the United States, is on the south coast of Cuba, about 40 miles east of Santiago. This bay is about four miles wide by ten miles long, has deep water and is sheltered by hills from hurricanes. This bay was for a long time a rendezvous for pirates and buccanniers, who lay in wait for the galleons coming up from the Spanish main and merchantmen bound from Santiago, Cuba.

WILLIAMSPORT

The July meeting of the Sorosis Club was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Russell McDell. Miss Nellie Nessell, the program opened the meeting with scripture. The Lord's prayer followed. The usual business meeting was held. The usual program was omitted. Plans were made for a picnic for Sorosis members and their families to be held at the time for the regular August meeting which will be on August 19th at the school grove near the home of Miss Carolyn Bohard.

At the close of the meeting, combination ice, cakes and refreshments were served by the hostess. G. P. Hunsicker went to Lakeside on Thursday.

Miss Eleanor Ladden visited in Springfield this week.

Virginia Loeis who is visiting her grandmother Mrs. Sarah Hunsinger spent Wednesday with Betty McNeil.

Russell McDell was a Columbus visitor Thursday.

Mrs. Emma Wiggins who is a guest of her son Mr. E. F. Wiggins and family at Toledo, is spending this week at Lakeside.

Mrs. W. H. Hunsinger and her granddaughter Betty Wight of Columbus spent the week with relatives and friends.

On Thursday evening Mrs. George Gophart of St. Louis gave a recital for the benefit of the M. E. Ladies' Aid. Mrs. Gophart is being praised for a special entertainment.

Friday was a day of fun for Williamsport high school pupils.

Where the plane and train meet!

The above is a picture of Port Columbus, the new million dollar municipal aviation field of the City of Columbus.

Here the iron horse is hitched to the steel plane

For Port Columbus is an official stop for the limited trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the eastern terminus of Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc. These two great organizations, co-operating with the Santa Fe railroad, operate a 48 hour coast to coast service.

The railroad station is the first in the world to be built at an air field.

The airway limited meets the TAT planes in the morning and evening.

The City of Columbus is spending approximately a million dollars in building what will be when completed, the finest air port in the United States. Nothing either completed or under construction at this time will come even close in comparison with it.

Located 15 minutes, or in other words, seven miles from the center of the city, on a 600 acre plat, west of Poth road and along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, the accessibility of the field is one of its attractive features.

PORT COLUMBUS PERFECT
Port Columbus is architecturally perfect. The hangars and administration building were designed by the Allied Architects Association of Columbus. All other hangars and buildings to be erected on the Port will be made to conform to the style and design of these two municipal buildings.

The Administration building houses the waiting rooms, ticket office, telegraph, a restaurant, offices of TAT, Curtiss Flying Service and other air lines which will operate out of Port Columbus. The headquarters of the Port Superintendent will be in this building, in the control tower. A plaza on the north side of the building will give passengers and visitors a view of the entire field.

Wm. F. Centner, formerly a captain in the U. S. Army Air Service, has been appointed Port Superintendent, and will have charge of the actual administration of the Port and its operation.

FIELD LIKE CARPET
The field proper will be like a carpet when the grading, plowing and sodding is completed. Two runways: the first extending in the direction of the prevailing wind, northeast to southwest, and the other in the opposite direction, are almost completed. They are 100 feet wide, the first is 3500 ft long and the other is 2500 ft long. They are of concrete and asphalt construction. One hundred and six thousand square yards of asphalt, and concrete have been used in these runways and aprons. Abutting each end of the runways is a turning button. There is also one in the middle. The runways have been constructed of 5 1-2 inches of concrete, with a top dressing of 1 1-2 inches of cement asphalt. The surface will be roughed to prevent skidding of planes during bad weather. The runways are flush with the field.

An area of 200 feet in width on each side of the runways is especially drained with 5-inch tile, every 30 feet. The remainder of the field has a similar drainage system every 60 feet.

length regarding the tactics of the authorities in quizzing Snook. The witness admitted the prisoner had been thoroughly grilled. Six police officials gave Snook the "third degree."

"Several of the officials were smoking, weren't they?" asked Seyfert.

"Yes."

"Isn't it a fact that he was questioned in relays?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you call Snook names during the course of the grilling?"

"Yes, I guess I did."

Detective Lavelly, a heavy set, ruddy-faced man, admitted he had called Snook "a dirty dog." He could not remember whether he had called Snook a "rat." Neither would he deny he had said it.

"Didn't you warn Dr. Snook that if he did not confess you would hang him?"

"No, I did not."

"Did Prosecutor Chester swear at him?"

"No, not in my presence."

Seyfert endeavored to bring out that Snook was given no food or water for hours during the grilling and that he had been questioned in a hot, smoked-filled room.

PLACED FORGER IN CELL
Detective Lavelly testified that on his own initiative he had placed Charles Carey, a forger, in Snook's cell.

"You were trying to get Carey to pump Snook, weren't you?"

"Yes," replied the Detective calmly.

"How long did Carey share the cell with Dr. Snook?"

"About a week."

Lavelly explained he put the forger in the cell with instructions not to even speak to Snook until the latter took the initiative in talking and to report to him anything Snook might disclose.

Seyfert asked Detective Lavelly to explain what Snook had said while being grilled concerning Theora Hill and Marion T. Meyers, one-time suitor.

Prosecutor Chester objected.

"If the purpose is to attack the character of this slain girl, I maintain it is not competent," declared Ches-er.

The court sustained the objection.

On re-direct examination, Lavelly testified that Snook was quite calm while being grilled; that he tried to "out smart" his interrogators and that he asked them as many questions as they asked him.

CLUB BLANKS MERCHANTS

Vierebome, Given Excellent Support, Is Never In Danger of Being Headed.

Combining all the elements that go to make a winning ball club, effective pitching, fast defensive play, and timely hitting coupled with opponent misplays, the C. A. C. had easy picking at Mason's Monday evening in winning from the Merchants. The score was 13-0.

Tubby Vierebome was the one big factor in the victory for his ability to make opposing batters hit the ball where one of his players was stationed prevented the Merchants from crossing the rubber.

Vierebome, as cool as an iceberg, gave out just six hits, walked only one man and aided by a flawless defense put out one of the prettiest exhibitions of mound-work seen this summer.

The entire C. A. C. team aided in the scoring of runs when the nine players used connected for 14 base blows. Pickens and Reid each with three singles led the sluggers.

The defensive of the Merchants was nothing to brag about and with errors coming at inopportune times, the C. A. C. scored several runs that should never have crossed the rubber.

The sixth inning was the big one for the club when six runs crossed the platter.

Pictorial Golf Instruction

By H. B. MARTIN

THIS IS THE FINISH OF THE WELL GROUNDED SWING - THE CLUB HAS BEEN IN CONTROL ALL THE WAY

CONTROL MORE IMPORTANT THAN DISTANCE WHEN DRIVING

THE long, loose swing quite often is responsible for the long drive, but it is not the swing of the golfer, nor the successful golfer. Young golfers are inclined to strive for distance with their tee shots, willing to gamble on keeping the majority of them on the fairway. Experienced players are content to keep the ball straight and with this aim in view they gradually shorten the arch and make an attempt to keep the swing under perfect control.

The swing need not be short so long as it is compact, and well timed. The finish of the swing does not go back, as a rule, as far as the shoulder. Further dipping of the club is unnecessary and only goes to prove that there has been a dipping also at the top of the swing. With the compact, well timed swing there is little chance of one losing his balance, so the foot action is usually perfect.

In some things, it may be TASTE—but in insurance, it's PROTECTION!

THE whole theory and practise of insurance is based upon the fundamental idea of protection. In buying insurance, consider protection above everything else. When assured of the protection you need—and not until then—consider the question of cost.

Central Policies stand the test—protection of highest quality—a company absolutely sound—fair adjustments and prompt payment of losses.

Then, considering cost, Central's annual dividend has been 30% for the last eight years. Central's Policies are naturally preferred by the careful insurance buyer.

COLAS EDGE WARD'S, 9-8

Overcome Seven Run Lead To Hold Lead Over C. A. C. Who Beat Merchants.

In the closest and most exciting game played so far in the Recreation ball league, the Coca-Colas, the league leaders, defeated the newly organized Ward's Ten 9 to 8.

The general idea up to the sixth inning was that Ward's Ten had won by a walk-away, but it started swatting the ball.

In the sixth inning the score was 7 to 0 in favor of Doggy's Ten but for some reason the deputy's team couldn't reach those high and fast balls that said out into the infield. At the start of the game Ward's Ten played very tight ball, only allowing one man to get to third base. But the situation changed in the eighth and ninth innings when the bottlers scored seven runs.

A new pitcher was introduced last evening. He is "Red" Owens who now pitches for the deputy's ten. He pitched a fine game only allowing four or five men to gain a base on a walk. Lynch for the bottlers also pitched nice ball. The Coca-Colas continue to pile up a higher percentage in first place.

The annual homecoming shoot of the Harrisburg Gun Club will be held Wednesday, Aug. 7, according to an announcement made today.

The program will consist of eight events of 20 targets each. An entrance fee of $1 is being charged while an optional fee of $1.50 is being charged for each event. Money taken in is to be divided on the percentage basis.

It is expected that numerous Circleville and Pickaway-co shooters will attend the meet.

Indian Tribes Shifted

From 1817 to 1840, the great southern tribes of Indians were removed to the Indian territory from Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi. These tribes were the Cherokee, Chickasaw, Chickasaw, Creek and Seminole. These Indians held slaves and during the Civil war all of these tribes joined the Confederacy. They were compelled by the treaties of 1863 to cede to the United States much of their western lands upon which they had established no settlements, as a home for friendly Indians of other tribes.

LANCASTER MAN SPEAKS UP

"Hoyt's Compound Nas No Equal," He Says: Now Free of Misery.

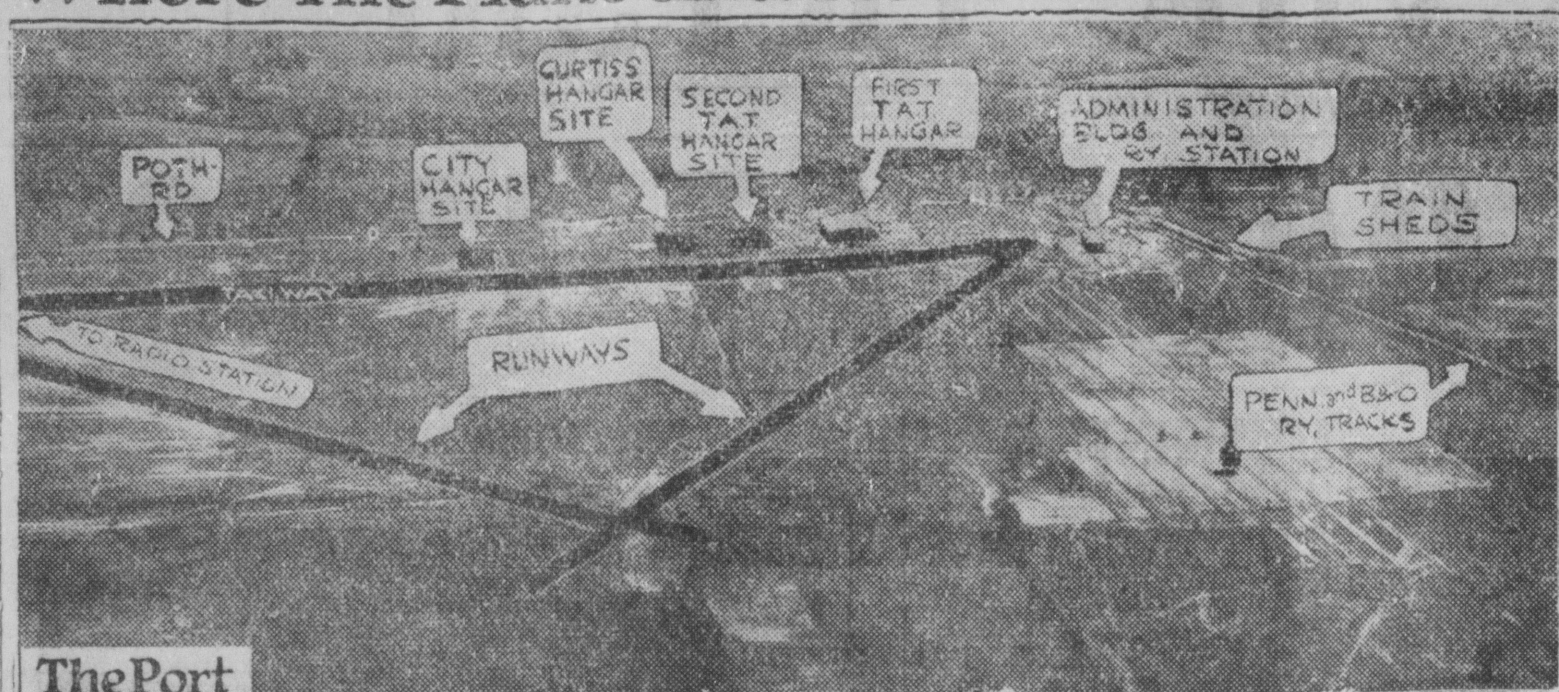

"It is my honest opinion that this Hoyt's Compound HAS NO EQUAL in the realm of medicines and it has surely made me feel 100% better and I am glad to endorse it to others who suffer," declared Mr. Fred B. Mast, 281 North Columbus street, Lancaster, Ohio.

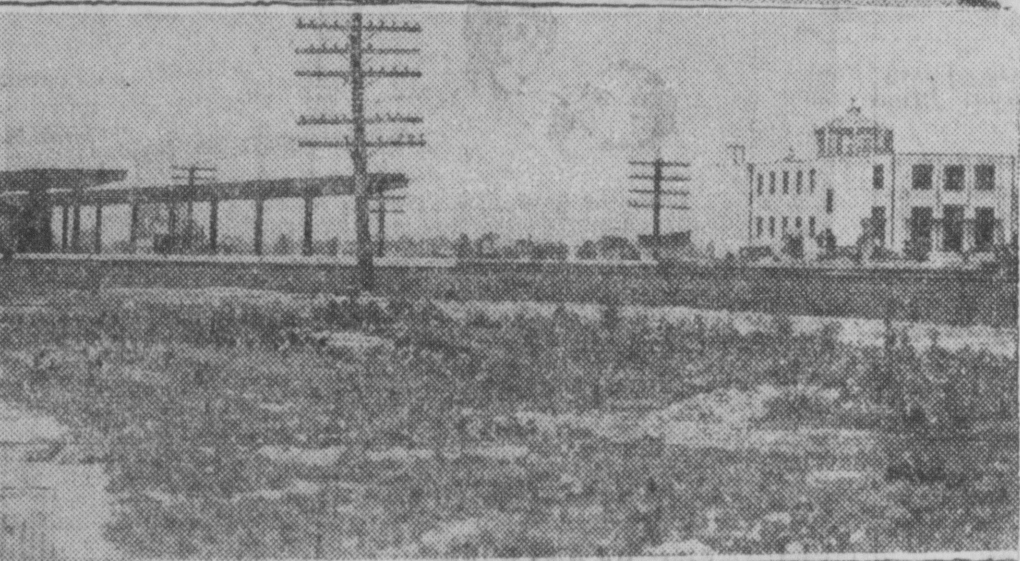

"For three years I suffered because of stomach trouble. My food would not digest properly and would just lay in my stomach and sour causing gas to form and would swell up so much at times that I would be troubled with my heart. I would get short of breath and severe pains would shoot through to the pit of my stomach causing untold misery and suffering. Hoyt's Compound quickly ENDED MY MISERY and made me like a different person. It has regulated my bowels perfectly and I never have any more of that awful stomach misery. I feel that I owe this public statement to the medicine that has restored me to NEW and BETTER health."

Hoyt's Compound is sold in Circleville at Wilder's Drug Store, and by all the leading druggists in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Combining all the elements that go to make a winning ball club, effective pitching, fast defensive play, and timely hitting coupled with opponent misplays, the C. A. C. had easy picking at Mason's Monday evening in winning from the Merchants. The score was 13-0.

Tubby Vlerebome was the one big factor in the victory for his ability to make opposing batters hit the ball where one of his players was stationed prevented the Merchants from crossing the rubber. Vlerebome, as cool as an iceberg, gave out just six hits, walked only one man and aided by a flawless defense put out one of the prettiest exhibitions of mound-work seen this summer.

The entire C. A. C. team aided in the scoring of runs when the nine players used connected for 14 base blows. Pickens and Reid each with three singles led the sluggers.

The defensive of the Merchants was nothing to brag about and with errors coming at inopportune times, the C. A. C. scored several runs that should never have crossed the rubber.

The sixth inning was the big one for the club when six runs crossed the platter.

PROTECTION!

THE whole theory and practise of insurance is based upon the fundamental idea of protection. In buying insurance, consider protection above everything else. When assured of the protection you need—and not until then—consider the question of cost.

Central Policies stand the test—protection of highest quality—a company absolutely sound—fair adjustments and prompt payment of losses.

Then, considering cost, Central's annual dividend has been 30% for the last eight years. Central's Policies are naturally preferred by the careful insurance buyer.

Officials Tell Of State Fair Plans

Program Indicates Wider Range of Attractions Than Ever Before. Young People To Have Big Part.

Columbus, Ohio, (Special). THE OHIO State Fair for this year, Aug. 26 to 31, is being hailed by those in close touch, to present the widest program range in its 79 years of progress.

In an interview with this writer, C. E. Rowland, fair manager, gave a running description of the program as follows:

The territory represented in the livestock show this year will take in at least one-half of the North American continent. Entries have been made in the Cattle Department, Jerseys from Vermont, Jerseys from Texas, Angus from Michigan, etc. We have the largest entries ever made at the Ohio State Fair in the carload lots of commercial fat cattle.

The Horse Department has added two new classes in Percherons and Belgians this year. These are amateur classes open to exhibitors who have not formerly exhibited at the Ohio State Fair. These horses must be fitted and shown by the exhibitor, his son or daughter. In the Percheron entries we find 10 descendants of Last and Carnot. Last has never sired a colt which was not a winner, being himself the Grand Champion at the Ohio State Fair in 1919, and in Chicago in 1921. He has sired two International Grand Champions, one of these, Hesitation, has achieved the championship twice.

In the Speed Department we have Counterpart, the famous horse which won the $25,000 race at Kalamazoo. This horse is entered in the Monday speed, August 26, in the 2:13 pace.

Peter Cowl won the $25,000 stake at Toledo, and is entered in the 2:14 trot on Tuesday, August 27.

The Light Horse show will be better than ever. Two $1,000 stakes and two $500 stakes are being run in the best horses in the country to the Ohio State Fair. The Six Horse Hitch will be conducted by the Ohio State Fair.

At the second Cat Show you will see Manx, Siamese, Abyssinian, Australian and Persian cats, also a class for the much-maligned alley cat.

The dogs will carry on a howling success for three days of their show.

Four new demonstration features will be in the Woman's Building this year. Franklin county, Care of Clothing, Columbiana, Importance of Nutrition, Belmont, Proper Way to Finish Clothing, Montgomery, Beautification of Rural and City Lawns.

There is no single feature attraction this year on which to center attraction and lavish expenditure. The policy has been to have things better all along the line, rather than a few one feature that is over in a few minutes, leaving the rest of the day more or less empty.

Instead of one splash attraction, you will have twelve outstanding feature attractions. Among these any one can find much to interest, entertain, and impress.

The Festival of Fire, each evening, for instance, will thrill and please every one. It is an extravaganza of modern fireworks effects, that goes beyond comprehension. You'll carry the picture in your mind's eye long after you return home.

The kiddies will delight in the Peppercorn Bears doing astounding stunts and cutting funny capers.

The Peerless Flyers-aerial performers—will provide thrills aplenty. You'll hear people talking about Dennis, Curtis, the comedy taximeter performer.

Wheeler and Wheeler, Skaters Camille Trio, Aerial Earls, the Lucky Boys, Foster Girls' Ballet, Winter Garden Review, Egg Star and the Venetian Trio, Novelty musicians.

Of course, the great Armer Band, the All-Ohio High School Boys' Band—200 strong, and the five other musical aggregations will add to the spirit of the occasion for a lively good time.

Don't forget the six big after-noon programs of great racing. The Ohio State Fair this year is bigger than ever before and the only reason that it will be is because you make it so.

Longevity Statistics

Statistics prove that for every three men between seventy-five and eighty years of age there are four women, while for every man more than eighty-five years old there are seven women.

OHIO STATE FAIR NEWS

The Ohio Newspaper Association is arranging for an enlarged newspaper exhibit in the Ohio building at the state fair this year. Every newspaper published in the state will have a copy on file and in addition a plan is afoot to have installed a Meihle vertical press which can turn out 10,000 impressions an hour together with a linotype and a daily newspaper will be printed and circulated for the benefit of fair visitors, says H. E. C. Rowe, Field Secretary of the O. N. A.

Col. E. W. Foshier, stockman living at Dialton, Montgomery-co will act as superintendent of the swine show at the State fair. $12,601 have been posted for exhibits in that department this year.

D. J. Jobe of Cedarville will superintend the sheep, wool and goat display. F. B. Trumbull will judge Aberdeen, Angus cattle and C. C. Terrill, New Vienna, is to judge Duroc Jerseys in the swine show.

As a part of the entertainment in the Rural Community Play House (formerly the aircraft building) there will be "calling" contests each forenoon, including cow, hog, husband, sheep and chicken calling. Afternoons there are to be Old Fiddlers' contests and old-fashioned square dancing. The Play House is a brand new feature at the fair.

Mrs. William J. Pontius, Canton the only woman member of the State Board of Agriculture is in charge of the displays in the women's department and the department of fine arts at the State fair.

Charles B. Miner, aged 80, Columbus farm machinery agent for 40 years and a veteran exhibitor at the Ohio State fair, died one day last week. He was a consistent booster for the fair.

Well, boys, it looks like Ohio's year in harness racing. London and Urbana, neighboring county seats to the west are these days enjoying no little wholesome publicity due to the achievements of two of their foremost citizens, Doc McMillen and Doc Parrshall. With Peter Cowl, McMillen last week won the $25,000 trotting stake at Toledo. With Counterpart, Doc Parrshall, who formerly trained at Washington, C. H., but now lives at Urbana, this week won the $25,000 American pacing derby at Kalamazoo, Mich. Each of these men is a great judge of horse flesh. Each got his start on Ohio half-mile tracks and each is well known to fair followers throughout the state—Ohio State Journal.

Famous Painting

Gainsborough's picture, "The Blue Boy," is a portrait of John "Blue Boy," son of a rich London merchant, and it was painted in 1703. Blue and brown predominate. According to tradition, Gainsborough painted it to confuse the dictum of Sir Joshua Reynolds in his eighth "Discourse," in which he said in part: "It ought to be indispensably observed that the masses of light in a picture be all ways of a warm yellow color, yellow, red or a yellowish white, and that the blue, the gray or the green colors be kept almost entirely out of these masses and be used only to support or set off these warm colors." Let the light be cold and the surrounding color warm, as we often see in the works of the Rembrandt and Vermeer painters, and it will be the hands of Rubens and Titian, and the picture will be a masterpiece.

Duck Champion Egg-Layer

The domestic duck is not only for food in the United States, it is coming into its own as an egg-layer in the British Isles. Over 1,000,000 ducks are now produced in the United States and the average duck will produce almost 100 eggs a year.

Wild Rees

In the Rees family of this country, there are a number of people who are famous for their wild rees. One of the most famous is the Rees family of this country, who are famous for their wild rees.

Princess to Wed

Goldfried Herman Alfred Paul Maximilian Clucker, Prince of Hohenlohe-Langenbourg, the dashing German Prince, who six months ago gave up all hope of marrying Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, has won the heart of beautiful Princess Ileana of Rumania (above). Princess Ileana is visiting him at the ancestral Hohenzollern Castle in Sigmaringen, southern Germany.

A large and commodious comfort station is maintained on the grounds for the convenience of mothers and children. In addition to this centrally located station grounds are scattered about the grounds.

Newspaper headquarters will be in the Ohio building in charge of experienced workers and visiting newspapermen are invited to make this bureau their headquarters. Copies of awards and decisions and other items of news value will be available there for press representatives.

Two broadcasting companies will maintain headquarters on the fair grounds, and send out programs and news of the fair—WAU and WLW.

The Festival of Fire, the night fire works feature, is described as an awe-inspiring spectacle, including many features entirely new to pyrotechnics.

County Farm News

"HOG CHOLERA"

Hog Cholera, the most exacting of hog diseases has made its appearance in different sections of the county. This outbreak has occurred earlier than usual this year. The first cases reported about Five Points and Pickaway-twp appearing just before threshing, outbreaks commonly show up about the time when hog feeders start their shots on green corn. Upon observing hogs or feeder shots "off" condition, the owner should immediately call in his veterinarian. Proper administration, through a competent veterinarian of hog cholera, serum and virus is the only practical and successful methods of controlling this great swine malady.

"DAIRY DAY"

Dairy Farmers throughout Ohio have been invited to attend "Dairy Day" at Ohio Experiment Station on Friday, Aug. 9th.

The visiting dairy farmers will be presented with the most recent results in breeding, feeding, disease control, in obtaining economic production of dairy products. Members of the Dairy Staff, will relate the work being conducted in dairy improvement and show the dairymen, the herd, equipment used and methods of herd management.

The morning program will be comprised chiefly of the above discussions and inspection tours.

The program of the afternoon will appear C. D. Burlingham and Dr. C. W. Gay.

Mr. Burlingham, editor of the Breeders Gazette, former Editor of Hoard's Dairymen, has had a wide dairy experience.

Dr. C. W. Gay, chief of the Animal Husbandry Department, Ohio State university will outline the dairy improvement work which is being carried out at the university.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective antacid like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal. Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

Food for Argument in Matter of Doughnuts
No matter how long a man has lived, he is likely to have a few incorrect ideas that right reason has never been able to correct. We knew a man once who sold doughnuts of his own fabrication. He had had up quite a little money and was doing very well. He rented a large house in Cincinnati and his argument always had been that the larger the hole the less dough in the doughnut. He specialized, of course, on large holes and small profits.

This was all very well until, one day on his rounds, he met an argumentative man. Unfortunately, the doughnut man, in a moment of confidence, expounded to him his theory of the large hole and small profits. The argumentative man shook his head. He spent some time at it but he finally convinced the doughnut man that he had been working his business on a fallacy. The argumentative man proved to the doughnut vender, and by mathematical means, that the smaller the hole in the doughnut, the less dough it took to go around it.

The doughnut man went home and figured over the matter so long and so intently that he was eventually bereft of his reason and had to be confined.—A. J. R. in the Minneapolis Journal.

Famous Painting
Gainsborough's picture, "The Blue Boy," is a portrait of Jonathan Buttall, son of a rich London merchant, and it was painted in 1770. Blue and brown predominate. According to tradition, Gainsborough painted it to confute the dictum of Sir Joshua Reynolds in his eighth "Discourse," in which he said in part: "It ought to be indispensably observed that the masses of light in a picture be all of a warm yellow color, yellow, red or a yellowish white, and that the blue, the gray or the green colors be kept almost entirely out of these masses and be used only to support or set off these warm colors. . . . Let the light be cold and the surrounding color warm, as we often see in the works of the Roman and Florentine painters, and it will be out of the power of art, even in the hands of Rubens and Titian, to make a picture splendid and harmonious."

Duck Champion Egg-Layer
The domestic duck, used only for food in the United States, is coming into its own as an egg-layer in the British Isles. Over there a farm having as many as 1,000 ducks is not uncommon, reports the Farm Journal. The average duck will produce almost twice as many eggs as the average chicken. In several laying trials, ducks have laid more than 300 eggs a year, and one prodigious quacker has set a world's record with 553 eggs in 365 days.

Wild Roses
In the Bible we read of roses. They are wild roses. "The wilderness shall blossom as the rose," and in our land the traveler may come upon sand stretches which seem close to waste, and over them may trail garlands of wandering roses, blooming not for man to see, but for the joy of blooming.

OHIO STATE FAIR NEWS

The Ohio Newspaper Association is arranging for an enlarged newspaper exhibit in the Ohio building at the state fair this year. Every newspaper published in the state will have a copy on file and in addition a plan is afoot to have installed a Meihle vertical press which can turn out 10,000 impressions an hour together with a linotype and a daily newspaper will be printed and circulated for the benefit of fair visitors, says H. E. C. Rowe, Field Secretary of the O. N. A.

Col. E. W. Foshier, stockman living at Dialton, Montgomery-co will act as superintendent of the swine show at the State fair. $12,601 have been posted for exhibits in that department this year.

D. J. Jobe of Cedarville will superintend the sheep, wool and goat display. F. B. Trumbull will judge Aberdeen, Angus cattle and C. C. Terrill, New Vienna, is to judge Duroc Jerseys in the swine show.

As a part of the entertainment in the Rural Community Play House (formerly the aircraft building) there will be "calling" contests each forenoon, including cow, hog, husband, sheep and chicken calling. Afternoons there are to be Old Fiddlers' contests and old-fashioned square dancing. The Play House is a brand new feature at the fair.

Mrs. William J. Pontius, Canton the only woman member of the State Board of Agriculture is in charge of the displays in the women's department and the department of fine arts at the State fair.

Charles B. Miller, aged 80, Columbus farm machinery agent for 40 years and a veteran exhibitor at the Ohio State fair, died one day last week. He was a consistent booster for the fair.

Well, boys, it looks like Ohio's year in harness racing! London and Urbana, neighboring county seats to the west are these days enjoying no little wholesome publicity due to the achievements of two of their foremost citizens, Doc Hemmelen and Doc Parrshall. With Peter Cowl, McMullen last week won the $25,000 trotting stake at Toledo. With Counterpart, Doc Parrshall, who formerly trained at Washington, C. H., but now lives at Urbana, this week won the $25,000 American pacing derby at Kalamazoo, Mich. Each of these men is a great judge of horse flesh. Each got his start on Ohio half-mile tracks and each is well known to fair followers throughout the state.—Ohio State Journal. Both these fast steppers are entered in the State fair races.

Steve Phillips, popular Xenia starting judge, will send the harness horses away again this year at the State fair.

The Festival of Fire, the night fire works feature, is described as an awe-inspiring spectacle, including many features entirely new to pyrotechnics.

Two broadcasting companies will maintain headquarters in the fair grounds, and send out programs and news of the fair—WAU and WLW.

The Herald's classified ads are noted for their ability to quickly produce gratifying returns—that's why practically all the available rental property in Circleville will be found listed in its classified columns.

Princess to Wed

Gottfried Herman Alfred Paul Maximilian Clker, Prince of Hohenlohe - Langenburg, the dashing German Prince, who six months ago gave up all hope of marrying Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, has won the heart of beautiful Princess Ileana of Rumania (above). Princess Ileana is visiting him at the ancestral Hohenzollern Castle in Sigmaringen, southern Germany.

A large and commodious comfort station is maintained on the grounds for the convenience of mothers and children. In addition to this centrally located station others are scattered about the grounds.

Newspaper headquarters will be in the Ohio building in charge of experienced workers and visiting newspapermen are invited to make this bureau their headquarters. Copies of awards and decisions and other items of news value will be available there for press representatives.

County Farm News

"HOG CHOLERA"
Hog Cholera the most exacting of hog diseases has made its appearance in different sections of the county. This outbreak has occurred earlier than usual this year. The first cases reported about Five Points and Pickaway-two appearing just before threshing, outbreaks commonly show up about the time when hog feeders start their shots on green corn. Upon observing hogs or feeder shots "off" condition, the owner should immediately call in his veterinarian. Proper administration, through a competent veterinarian of hog cholera, serum and virus is the only practical and successful method of controlling this great swine malady.

"DAIRY DAY"
Dairy Farmers throughout Ohio have been invited to attend "Dairy Day" at Ohio Experiment Station on Friday, Aug. 9th.

The visiting dairy farmers will be presented with the most recent results in breeding, feeding, disease control, in obtaining economic production of dairy products. Members of the Dairy Staff, will relate the work being conducted in dairy improvement and show the dairymen, the herd, equipment used and methods of herd management.

The morning program will be comprised chiefly of the above discussions and inspection tours.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective antidote like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal. Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

PHILLIPS Milk of Magnesia

On the program of the afternoon will appear C. D. Burlingham and Dr. C. W. Gay.

Mr. Burlingham, editor of the Breeders Gazette, former Editor of Hoard's Dairymen, has had a wide dairy experience.

Dr. C. W. Gay, chief of the Animal Husbandry Department, Ohio State university will outline the dairy improvement work which is being carried out at the university.

Ingenious Romans
When Rome was besieged in 536 A. D. by the Goths, the fourteen viaducts which supplied the city with water were cut off. Because of the proximity of the river Tiber the danger of a water famine was not so perilous as that of food, since the mills that ground grain were operated by water wheels. To overcome this danger mills were placed between two rafts securely fastened in the river. The water flowing in the space between the two rafts operated the mill grinding grain.

Plans for a Big "Outdoors" Show

Plans for the most interesting outdoor exhibit ever presented to the public at the Ohio State Fair, August 26-31, are underway. Chief J. W. Thompson of the Division of Fish and Game will demonstrate to fair visitors the extensive work of the division in restocking with game birds and fish life. There will be pens of pheasants, partridges, wild turkeys, wild ducks, and other game birds, and also raccoons, foxes, deer, bear, and other game animals from the Roosevelt Game Preserve and from the state game farms. The aquarium in the fish and game building will contain live adult bass, catfish, sunfish, bluegills, and many other varieties, as well as fry from the hatcheries.

Outdoorsmen from all parts of Ohio are planning to attend the exhibit to see the work of the fish and game division which will soon become the Division of Conservation, with a still larger scope of activities. Many interesting and entertaining features in connection with the exhibits will be on the program.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

PHILLIP EDISON is host at a night-club party to his just-divorced wife and Oliver Sewell, sportsman and Don Juan. Edison presumes that Sewell and the divorcee are to be married. When the party breaks up, Edison goes to Sewell's home and, while he is waiting his return, is informed Sewell has been found dead. Inspector Marx begins a police investigation. He questions Sewell's Russian valet. The elevator operator is also questioned. He did not see Sewell return. A young medical examiner, with a taste for detective work, assists Marx. Their search of the apartment reveals complete wardrobe for women in different colors. In a safe-deposit box they find a scrap of paper bearing the inscription, "Paid in Full." The following day a Major Preston, who has been a sporting associate of Sewell's, is interrogated. Then Sewell's widow visits the apartment. She intimates that Preston might know something.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"LET me understand you," begged the doctor. "In such ladies as came here, there was another individual living with Mr. Sewell—presumably a woman."

"Yes, I think so." "Because you always made breakfast for two." "And lunch and dinner also. And sometimes when Mr. Sewell went out, he would instruct me to make the meal just the same."

"And to whom would you serve it?" "I was instructed to leave it on the table on the terrace."

"And didn't you ever look to see who took up the food?" demanded the doctor.

"Yes. But I couldn't. When I looked, either the food and the tray were still there, or suddenly they were gone."

"Yeah. Now suppose somebody was living here. Where could they hide?" "That I do not know. I have told you everything I know. I thought Mr. Sewell did not want me to see the person who was living with him. And in Russia I have learned it is always best not to know too much."

He bowed, and made his way back to the corridor, and to his room.

The doctor rose from his chair, chuckling. "Marvelous!" he enthused. "This case has side-lights that are positively fascinating. An unknown second person lives in this home of mystery. A healthy normal person, apparently, who eats three meals a day, and yet remains invisible. And, presumably, this shadowy eater is no more. She has vanished with the murder. Do you see the possibilities, Inspector?"

"I don't see a damn thing," snapped Marx.

"But you see the possibilities, don't you?" insisted the doctor. "Think! What would Sewell be doing with a second person—man or woman—whom he was determined to hide from the world?"

"I'll answer that," growled Marx. "When you answer the other questions we haven't tackled yet. How did Sewell get up here? How did the guy who bumped him off get out of here? How?"

Marx stopped short. He was facing the left wall of the murder room. He blinked as the door swung open, as if it were a door. A young woman in blue afternoon tea gown tottered forward.

The doctor stepped quickly towards her.

"Mrs. Edison, I believe?" "Yes," the girl began to reply. "And then I went into the chair and buried her dead in her hands."

"What are you doing here?" Marx found her voice. "I was still staring at the door when I saw a shadowy figure in the doorway. I didn't know what it was. I didn't know what it was. I didn't know what it was."

"Anything on his mind? Was he worried about anybody?" "No. He seemed very happy. And then suddenly, while we were talking, the lights flickered and then went out. We were in the dark. I screamed. But I felt someone near me, and a hand over my mouth, and then I had a feeling of being dragged and a door closing on me. Then I heard a shot. But I was still in the dark. I couldn't see anything. I didn't hear anything." The girl rose as she enacted the terror of that night.

"I'll be damned hours, but everything was still, and I kept groping around, and then I got hysterical and began beating on the wall. I thought it was a wall. But it was a door. And I opened it. And somehow I found the switch, and I turned on the lights. She fell back in her chair. 'He's dead,'

"In this chair here?" "What did you do then?" demanded Marx.

"I was half mad. I screamed and cried, and then I heard some one coming in. And I realized I was in a terrible mess. I tried to get out through the terrace, but I heard the outer door opening. So I put out the lights and I ran into this room back of the mirror. And I just waited and waited. But I couldn't get away. There's been someone here all the time. Finally I couldn't stand it any more. I just ran out and—"

"Are you sure that you heard nothing, saw nothing that night?" "I tell you I didn't," protested the girl.

"Did you hear the steps of the person who dragged you? Did you feel the arm, the hand? Was it a man or a woman?"

"I was too frightened. I think it was a man. It must have been."

"And when you put the lights up again Sewell was dead and sitting in that chair?" "Yes."

"Shall we take a look at that room, Inspector?" asked the doctor, rising. "It's a rather unusual room, to say the least."

Marx got up. The doctor walked to the mirror.

"It's the secretary that fooled us," the doctor said, grasping an ornamental knob that seemed part of the furniture, but was in reality the knob of the door.

"Now, what have we here?" The room they entered was an alcove, equipped with a skylight ceiling for light and air. A table, an old couch, a book-shelf and a bridge lamp comprised the furniture.

"What did Sewell use this room for?" asked the doctor.

"I don't know," the girl replied. "I never entered there was a room back of the mirror, and I know the man who was in this room."

"What you were in this room," asked the doctor. "What did you do?"

"I lay on that couch there. I just waited. I couldn't do anything."

"You found nothing to eat, I take it?" the doctor put the question calmly, as if one could find food in a kitchen alcove.

"I was too upset to think about food," the girl laughed shortly. "I was so afraid I couldn't talk and I just lay here and waited for all the time the picture was on there."

"And a young how'd you get out of the room?" concluded the doctor.

THEATERS

"THE REDEMPTING SIN" Dolores Costello, Conrad Nagel and Lionel Barrymore, appear at the Grand in "The Redempting Sin" starting Wednesday and continuing through Thursday evening. As a Panaman Apache, Miss Costello, one of the queens of the silver screen, is forced to hate the man she loves. She drinks, smokes, swears, steals, she even goes so far as to kill a man. Yet in her sin she found redemption.

"THE IDLE RICH"

"The Idle Rich," taken from Edith Ellis' famous stage play of American family life, "White Cliffs" is another instance of the great improvements being brought to drama through the coming of the talking picture. For William de Mille's filmization of the state hit, as a hundred percent talking play, goes far beyond that audiences were enabled to see when they witnessed it as a legitimate stage play back of the footlights. This new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, now playing at the Met theatre, is a romance crowded with comedy, heart interest and here and there, tears. Lavishly cast, with outstanding artists of screen and stage, it is a veritable cross section of life as lived by the average American family. All its characters, moreover, are intensely interesting.

LOVES OF CASANOVA

Perfection of color photography as applied to motion pictures, is said to have been reached by a new invention, known as the French stencil process, which can be seen in the splendidly colored scenes of "Loves of Casanova," the Cineroman production which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will present at the Metropolitan theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Surely no finer opportunity for gorgeous color effects could be given a director than the exciting episodes of the romantic life of Giacomo Casanova most famous adventurer and great lover of the Eighteenth Century. The period was a colorful and picturesque one to begin with, and Casanova staged his career among scenes the most brilliant and colorful of the age.

Trees Span of Life

Trees, like people, have certain average ages beyond which they seldom live, says the Canadian Forest and Outdoors Magazine. The sequoia of California is the oldest living, attaining sometimes an age of several thousand years. The redwoods may live 1,000 to 1,500 years. Douglas fir, sugar pine and western larch 700 years. The beech and maple have been known to live 300 to 400 years.

Franco Has to Quit

Major Ramon Franco, commander of the Spanish plane which was missing for a week near the Azores until rescued by the British aircraft carrier "Eagle," was removed from the Spanish air service as the result of the failure of his attempt to fly to America. The authorities charged him with changing from a Spanish to an Italian-built plane against the wishes of his Government and flying in face of adverse weather reports.

ARE JUDGES

ABOVE CRITICISM?

In defending the editor and the chief editorial writer of the Cleveland Press against a charge of contempt of court, Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the Wilson administration, gave expression to a sound interpretation of the judge's place in democratic society. The following paragraph is central:

"As a matter of fact, the question of a judge's fitness to sit on the bench cannot be decided by him. It is decided by popular election; that is, in some classes of our judiciary, and in some it is decided by appointment. And if a man is a judge, and if some other person thinks he is an improper person to be a judge, the judge does not become proper by restraining the person who thinks him improper from expressing that opinion."

Mr. Baker further declared that the very idea of a court is too impersonal to permit a judge, when somebody speaks ill of him, to get angry and want vengeance.

Unfortunately, hearings on contempt of court charges are held before the tribunal which is alleged to have been offended against. This in itself tends to increase the likelihood of personal animosities and feelings being predominant.

The case involving the Cleveland Journalist which resulted in a sentence of 30 days in jail and fines of $500, might have had a different outcome if the requisite impersonality to which Mr. Baker alluded had been obtained by means of trial before a wholly disinterested court.

Speed Program Is Promising

Sport of Kings To Have Big Place At State Fair, Aug. 26-31.

Columbus, Ohio, (Special).—You'll know again the stirring emotions produced by pounding hoofs down the speedway. Here they come! Neck and neck! The crowd goes cuckoo. The sleek little mare flattens to the course, moving like clock-works. The big black, less graceful, but winged foot racer, contests every foot. And dashes under the wire, a winner by inches. The roar of the crowd, happy and careless for a day!

Truly too good to miss! See the splendid $20,000 speed program.

Plans for a Big "Outdoors" Show

Plans for the most interesting outdoor exhibit ever presented to the public at the Ohio State Fair, August 26-31, are underway. Chief J. W. Thompson of the Division of Fish and Game will demonstrate to fair visitors the extensive work of the division in restocking with game birds and fish life. There will be pens of pheasants, partridges, wild turkeys, wild ducks, and other game birds, and also raccoons, foxes, deer, bear, and other game animals from the Roosevelt Game Preserve and from the state game farms. The aquariums in the fish and game building will contain live adult bass, catfish, sunfish, bluegills, and many other varieties, as well as fry from the hatcheries.

Outdoorsmen from all parts of Ohio are planning to attend the exhibit to see the work of the fish and game division which will soon become the Division of Conservation, with a still larger scope of activities. Many interesting and entertaining features in connection with the exhibits will be on the program.

Time to Make a Will

Will making should be done when you are well. To wait until you are ill and then have it suggested that you should do so would be so depressing that the mental effect, reacting on the body, might make the illness terminate fatally.

THE WOOD CHOPPER

The Skyscraper Murder

by SAMUEL SPEWACK

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

PHILLIP EDISON is host at a night-club party to his just-recently-divorced wife and Oliver Sewell, sportsman and Don Juan. Edison presumes that Sewell and the divorcee are to be married. When the party breaks up, Edison goes to Sewell's home and while he is waiting his return, is informed Sewell has been found dead. Inspector Marx begins a police investigation. He questions Sewell's Russian valet. The elevator operator is also questioned. He did not see Sewell return. A young medical examiner, with a taste for detective work, assists Marx. Their search of the apartment reveals complete wardrobes for women in different colors. In a safe-deposit box they find a scrap of paper bearing the inscription, "Paid in Full." The following day a Major Ezeon, who has been a sporting associate of Sewell's, is interrogated. Then Sewell's widow visits the apartment. She intimates that Preston might know something.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VIII.
"LET me understand you," begged the doctor. "In to such ladies as came here, there was another individual living with Mr. Sewell—presumably a woman."

"Yes, I think so."
"Because you always made breakfast for two."

"And lunch and dinner also. And sometimes when Mr. Sewell went out, he would instruct me to make the meal just the same."

"And to whom would you serve it?"

"I was instructed to leave it on the table on the terrace."

"And didn't you ever look to see who took up the food?" demanded the doctor.

"Yes. But I couldn't. When I looked, either the food and the tray were still there, or suddenly they were gone."

"Yeah. Now suppose somebody was living here. Where could they hide?"

"That I do not know. I have told you everything I know. I thought Mr. Sewell did not want me to see the person who was living with him. And in Russia I have learned it is always best not to know too much."

He bowed, and made his way back to the corridor, and to his room.

The doctor rose from his chair, chuckling.

"Marvelous!" he enthused. "This case has side-lights that are positively fascinating. An unknown second person lives in this home of mystery. A healthy normal person, apparently, who eats three meals a day, and yet remains invisible. And presumably this shadowy eater is no more. She has vanished with the murder. Do you see the possibilities, Inspector?"

"I don't see a damn thing," snapped Marx.

"But you see the possibilities, don't you?" insisted the doctor. "Think! What would Sewell be doing with a second person—man or woman—whom he was determined to hide from the world?"

"I'll answer that," growled Marx. "when you answer the other questions we haven't tackled yet. How did Sewell get up here? How did the guy who bumped him off get out of here?"

Marx stopped short. He was facing the left wall of the mirror. Now he blinked at the lower half of the mirror swung open, as if it were a door. A young woman in a blue afternoon tea gown tottered forward.

The doctor stepped quickly towards her.

"Mrs. Edison, I believe?"

"Yes," the girl managed to reply. And then she sank into the chair and buried her head in her hands.

"What are you doing here?" Marx found his voice. For he was still staring at the newly discovered mirror-door that wallled up an alcove.

"Oh—God—I don't know!" she groaned. She stared at Marx.

"Are you a detective?"

"Yes," confirmed Marx. "And we've been looking for you."

The girl rose quickly. "I didn't kill him! I didn't kill him! I tell you. I loved him! I—"

"Anything on his mind? Was he worried about anybody?"

"No. He seemed very happy. And then suddenly, while we were talking, the lights flickered and then went out. We were in the dark. I screamed. But I felt someone near me, and a hand over my mouth, and then I had a feeling of being dragged and a door closing on me. Then I heard a shot. But I was still in the dark. I couldn't see anything. I couldn't hear anything. The girl rose as she enacted the terror of that night."

"I don't know what you're thinking. But I kept groping around, and then I got hysterical and began beating on the wall. I thought it was a wall. But it was a door. And I opened it. And somehow I found the switch, and I turned on the lights and I fell back in her chair. 'He was dead.'"

"In this chair here?"

"Yes."

"What did you do then?" demanded Marx.

"I was half mad. I screamed and cried, and then I heard some one coming in. And I realized I'd be in a terrible mess. I tried to get out through the terrace, but I heard the outer door opening. So I put out the lights and I ran into this room back of the mirror. And I just waited and waited. But I couldn't get away. There's been someone here all the time. Finally I couldn't stand it any more. I just ran out and—"

She slumped in her chair, helpless but furtive. Her eyes looked up at Marx speculatively.

"Mrs. Edison," began Marx. "Are you sure that you heard nothing, saw nothing that night?"

"I tell you I didn't," protested the girl.

"Did you hear the steps of the person who dragged you? Did you feel the arm, the hand? Was it a man or a woman?"

"I was too frightened. I think it was a man. It must have been."

"And when you put the lights up again Sewell was dead and sitting in that chair?"

"Yes."

"Shall we take a look at that room, Inspector?" asked the doctor, rising. "It's a rather unusual room, to say the least."

Marx got up. The doctor walked to the mirror.

"It's the secretary that fooled us," the doctor said, grasping an ornamental knob that seemed part of the furniture, but was in reality the knob of the door.

"Now, what have we here?"

The room they entered was an alcove, equipped with a skylight ceiling for light and air. A table, an old couch, a bookshelf and a bridge lamp comprised the furniture.

"What did Sewell use this room for?" asked the doctor.

"I don't know," the girl replied. "I never dreamed there was a room back of the mirror, and I know the apartment well."

"While you were in this room," asked the doctor, "what did you do?"

"I lay on that couch there. I just waited. I couldn't do anything."

"You found nothing to eat, I take it?" The doctor put the question casually, as if one could find food in a hidden alcove.

"I was too upset to think about food," the girl laughed shortly. "I was mad, I tell you. I can't talk about it. Just lying here and waiting, and all the time the picture of him out there."

"And wondering how'd you get out of the mess," concluded the doctor.

"THE REDEEMING SIN"

Dolores Costello, Conrad Nagel and Lionel Belmore, appear at the Grand in "The Redeeming Sin" starting Wednesday and continuing through Thursday evening.

As a Partisan Apache, Miss Costello, one of the queens of the silver screen, is forced to hate the man she loves. She drinks, smokes, swears, steals, she even goes so far as to kill a man. Yet in her sin she found redemption.

"THE IDLE RICH"

"The Idle Rich," taken from Edith Ellis' famous stage play of American family life, "White Cliffs" is another instance of the great improvements being brought to drama through the coming of the talking picture. For William de Mille's filmization of the state hit, as a hundred percent talking play, goes far beyond that audiences were enabled to see when they witnessed it as a legitimate stage play back of the footlights.

This new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, now playing at the Met theatre, is a romance crowded with comedy, heart interest and here and there, tears. Lavishly cast, with outstanding artists of screen and stage, it is a veritable cross section of life as lived by the average American family. All its characters, moreover, are intensely interesting.

LOVES OF CASANOVA

Perfection of color photography as applied to motion pictures, is said to have been reached by a new invention, known as the French stencil process, which can be seen in the splendidly colored scenes of "Loves of Casanova," the Cineroman production which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will present at the Metropolitan theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Surely no finer opportunity for gorgeous color effects could be given a director than the exciting episodes of the romantic life of Giacomo Casanova, most famous adventurer and greatest lover of the Eighteenth Century. The period was a colorful and picturesque one to begin with, and Casanova staged his career among scenes the most brilliant and colorful of the age.

NO MEETING THURSDAY

There will be no prayer meeting service at the North End Union Mission on Thursday evening. This will give the people an opportunity to go to the Stoutsville camp-meeting.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Robert Ramsey, 23, Mt. Sterling farmer and Mary Roland, 21, Flye Points, Rev. Elza, minister.

Clarence Allison, 21, Circleville and Marie Lane, 21, Circleville. Rev. Troutman.

Trees' Span of Life

Trees, like people, have certain average ages beyond which they seldom live, says the Canadian Forest and Outdoors Magazine. The sequoia of California is the oldest tree, attaining sometimes an age of several thousand years. The redwoods may live 1,000 to 1,500 years. Douglas fir, sugar pine and western larch 500 years. The beech and maple have been known to live 300 to 400 years.

Franco Has to Quit

Major Ramon Franco, commander of the Spanish plane which was missing for a week near the Azores until rescued by the British aircraft carrier "Eagle," was removed from the Spanish air service as the result of the failure of his attempt to fly to America. The authorities charged him with changing from a Spanish to an Italian-built plane against the wishes of his Government and flying in face of adverse weather reports.

NEW HOLLAND

Miss Opal Wood has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. John Blair at Dayton.

Edward and Richard Kirk are spending this week with relatives at London.

At a meeting of the Board of Education of Deerfield-twp, Miss Pauline French of New Holland, was employed to teach in the domestic science department.

Miss Lillian Greer, of Columbus, left last week on a motoring trip through the East, stopping at Washington, D. C. and other cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Riggins and Mrs. Emma Mouser were guests last Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chenault at Washington, D. C.

Geo. Smidley, Paul Montgomery, Percy May and Will Mitchell left Sunday night on a motoring trip to Washington, D. C.

At a meeting of the local Board of Education Miss Gladys Cavault of Springfield, was elected to teach Latin and English. The principalship vacancy still remains.

Taken From the Indian

The word "succotash" is Indian in origin. It is a corruption of a Narragansett name for an ear of corn as distinguished from corn cracked or broken by pounding. Roger Williams used the word in this sense. By 1778 it had the meaning of corn mixed with beans and perhaps bears' flesh. Now succotash is a mixture of corn with lima beans or string beans.

Tropics Not Flat

The old conception of the tropics as flat, uninteresting country has been put to flight by the facts. Jamaica, for instance, rises out of the sea to a height of 7,393 feet and it is now pretty generally known that the mountains of the Caribbean countries are the highest east of the Rockies.

Architecture First

Architecture is the most ancient of fine arts. The earliest dated architectural remains are those of the Babylonians, from as far back as 6000 B. C. Their building material was brick and they were the first to construct vaults and arches.

Dea's in Job Lots

The "Jobber" was given this name because he bargained with the manufacturing plant for a job lot of a commodity undertaking to resell it.

GOOD NATURE ALWAYS EBBS WHEN FEET HURT

Enthusiasm and Health Fly Before the "Pinching" of Tight Footwear—So Make Comfort the First Shoe Consideration, Urges Authority

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

NAPOLEON used to say that an army travels on its stomach. That is true, of course. Likewise, an army is no better than its feet. Unless it can march it is a poor army.

The welfare and usefulness of the individual, too, depend to a very considerable degree upon the feet. Comfort, good-nature and real efficiency may be ruined if the feet hurt.

On each of the very rare occasions when I have come in contact with a cross and irritable clerk, I have wondered if her feet hurt. Poor thing, she can't be agreeable if they do. Once in a great while somebody will look at your feet. Little thought will be provoked by such glances if your shoes be neat and clean. Your feet may be small or particularly well formed, but really nobody gives a second's consideration to such matters.

How we poor mortals flatter ourselves! Our clothes, their make and material, the shape of our ears, the size of our noses, our thinness or fatness, and the shoes we wear—we imagine all these are studied and commented upon by those we meet. If the truth were known, we should be humiliated by the indifference of the public. The fact is our neighbors are little interested in the details of our get-up. They like us, if they don't, not for our looks or our feet, but for what we are, and particularly for the vitality we possess.

What we know as "personality" is largely the sum total of vigor, energy, enthusiasm, sparkling eyes, rosy cheeks, springing step, hearty hand-clasp and bubbling over with good-nature. All these are signs of unflinching health and make up what is ordinarily called "personality." You can't be good natured, you can't smile, your eyes won't sparkle if your feet hurt. Aching feet will ruin the appetite and impair digestion.

Any kind of pain is disconcerting and undermines the health. It is bad enough when you cannot find its cause, but it is foolishness, indeed, if you know your pain is caused by shoes too tight and wrongly shaped. Sit down and think it over. Isn't it better to be free from pain and happy all the time than to try to camouflage your feet by hiding them in shoes made for a much younger member of your family? Isn't it better to promote your own happiness through the entire day than to cater to the fleeting glance of a stranger?

Wear comfortable shoes and have better health as a result. With better health add to your personality.

Everest Unconquered

Mount Everest has not been successfully climbed. Three attempts were made to climb it—in 1921 an elevation of 23,000 feet was reached. In 1922 27,500 feet and in 1924 28,000 feet.

Watermelon Experiments

Seedless watermelons have never been produced in sufficient quantities to be of commercial value. Horticulturists and persons with a gardening hobby have been able to grow them for their own pleasure.

TONG WARS STILL RAGE

Promise To Cease Fighting But Two Hours Later Another Man Is Killed.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(IN S.)—Despite a promise to United States Attorney Tuttle that there would be a cessation of hostilities until after a meeting between the official and Chinese leaders set for today, Chinatown was seething today following the fatal shooting last night of Chin Lee, Chinese laundryman.

The shooting occurred two hours after Attorney Tuttle had exacted the promise of temporary peace from leaders of the rival gangs.

That the killing of Chin Lee was no isolated incident was indicated by the earlier killings of Chinese in Newark, Chicago and Boston.

Chin Lee was murdered in the rear of his laundry which is located in Harlem far uptown from New York's Chinatown.

No trace of the murderers was found.

The assassination of Chin Hing was believed by police to have been the result of mistaken identity. Hing's features were said to be identical with those of Harry Yee Soong Tang, secretary of the Hip Sing Tong. After identifying Hing's body, Tang slept this morning in La Grange-station because, he told police, he feared for his life.

Many Chinese merchants and laundrymen left Chinatown today to find refuge until the rival Tong declare an armistice.

The cost of building a golf course varies from $8,000 to $50,000, depending on the improvements and other factors.

Snook Trial Nears End

Former Professor J. H. Snook, of Ohio State University, attends his trial, at Columbus, Ohio, for the murder of Theora Hix in brightly striped easy chair. Various tests by physicians had weakened him to such an extent that this measure was necessary. The testimony of two new-papersmen, which is substantially the same as Snook's alleged confession, will be the state's chief line of offense. The foundation of the defense will be that Snook was insane the night when he drove Miss Hix to the rifle range and killed her.

man carried off the honors among the women. Mr. and Mrs. Dunton also received guest gifts.

Mr. Dunton left Sunday for his home in Boston. Mrs. Dunton will remain for two weeks longer.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS SUNDAY AT NOON

Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Pickens of Watt-st. entertained the following guests to dinner Sunday at noon at their home on Watt-st., her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Reichelderfer and children, Charles Jr., Anne and Ellen of Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Spaythe of Springfield, all former residents of this city.

CLOTHING CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Jackson-twp Clothing club held a very interesting meeting at Jackson-twp school building July 31st, from 10 a. m., to 4 p. m. Before lunch the girls scored the first garments that have been finished. After lunch they had business meeting. Roll call was answered by "My Favorite Magazine." Miss Teamer from the Williamsport Clothing club was a visitor.

Mary Clark gave a demonstration on how to stuff a doll. Florence Little gave a demonstration, "What I Can Do With $5.00". After the meeting the members practiced some games and dances. Then they played games out of doors.

The social committee for next time are, Mary Clark, Florence Little, Carrie Little and Roma Melvin.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 20th at the Jackson-twp school building.

MRS. AHN ASSISTS ON WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Alban Ahn, wife of a former resident of this city, will assist Wednesday at noon at a luncheon and bridge party given by Mrs. J. S. Radebaugh of Columbus. This affair, one of the most conspicuous in Columbus this summer, will be given on the roof garden of the Broad-Lincoln and will honor Mrs. Frederick Crocker, Fredonia, Kas., and Mrs. Herbert Johnson, of Kalamazoo, Mich.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED BY ASSOCIATION

Mr. L. E. Eymann of Lancaster, was elected president of the Lancaster Camp Ground Association at the business session of the 57th annual camping meeting. Others elected were Rev. W. H. Blum, Circleville, secretary; A. B. Velebome, of Lancaster, formerly of Circleville, treasurer, Mrs. O. A. Butcher, Lancaster, business manager; Mr. C. A. Reid, superintendent of grounds.

All officers were re-elected.

AMANDA MEMBERS WIN IN LANCASTER

Over three hundred people gathered at Rising Park in Lancaster for the annual 4-H club picnic of Fairfield-co. Friday Games, contests and eat were on the program for the day. Two horse shoe contests were won by Amanda teams, composed of Frederick Shaeffer, Neil Abbott, Ralph Smith and Doyle Griffith. A third contest was won by a Rushville team represented by Frank and Pearl Webb. The Rushville club also won the baseball game with a team picked from several clubs. The score was 28-5.

Another feature of the day was the Style Revue to choose the girl to represent Fairfield-co. at state fair. The girl chosen was Margaret McFarland of Amanda. A preliminary display of garments made by the clothing clubs was another attraction. By 10:30 many clubs were on the ground ready for a good time and by 12 practically every one of the 45 clubs was represented. The events proved sufficiently interesting to keep the crowd busy until 4:30 and at 5 o'clock many clubs were still on the grounds. C. C. Lang, assistant State Club Leader was a guest at the picnic.

PARTY HONORS GUESTS VISITING FROM BOSTON

Miss Florence Dunton and Mr. and Mrs. James Adams entertained Saturday night for the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Dunton of Boston. The affair was held at the Dunton residence on S Court-st. and the guests were old friends from Circleville of Mr. Dunton.

Bridge was played throughout the entire evening and was followed by the serving of refreshments by the hostesses.

The prize for highest score among the men was won by Harold Grant. Miss Maryne Holder-

ALUMNI PICNIC ATTRACTS MANY

The Jackson-twp high school alumni picnic on Sunday was marked by a fine and interested attendance. It was held on the George Gehardt farm, near big Darby creek. The class of 1920 was represented by 85 per cent of its members.

It was a beautiful day, and after a veritable banquet of delicious food, a ball game, horse shoe pitching and a couple of large swings afforded amusement for a most lively afternoon.

Among the guests was Mrs. Lorraine Hean of Columbus.

NEW HOLLAND TEACHER ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

The engagement has been announced of Miss Grace Marion Peck of Clarkburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Peck to Mr. George E. Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cannon, of Dayton. Day after tomorrow... just a few more hours... it won't be long and then, Opportunity will be hammering in your door— anxious to give you FREE COAL.

A two dollar bill will do the trick. Two dollars will make you a member of the 1929 Heatrola Free Coal Club. Some folks might say that a two dollar bill is bad luck, but if you bring one in and say "Heatrola"—believe us—it's your lucky day. We don't care if the money is old or new... paper, silver or pennies... it will purchase a one-way ticket to heating comfort.

Come in for details. Or better yet, (for we're prejudiced) ask your neighbor who bought his Estate Heatrola a year ago, about FREE COAL. He'll tell you, his wife will tell you, the whole family will tell you that the Free Coal Campaign is the most generous, traveling representative of the most satisfactory heating offer ever made.

Remember, Saturday marks the opening day. Here's hoping we see you.

Just as this issue goes to press Chas. Richardson comes in to win the honor of being the first person to sign up for FREE COAL. Charley says he couldn't wait; he was determined to get such a head start on cold weather that it never would catch up.

Speaking of the best cabinet heater reminds us of the Sellers, the best kitchen cabinet. A necessary addition to the modern kitchen. Available in several dif-erent color combinations. Now at mid-summer prices, and on the usual generous terms.

Curious Old Lady: "Where did those large rocks come from?"

Tired Guide: "The glaciers brought them down."

Curious Old Lady: "But where are the glaciers?"

Tired Guide (giving up): "They've gone back for more rocks."

Lee Shaner, local jokester, says that very often a shining light is nothing more than a flash in the pan.

It might interest you to know that the people of Circleville were the first in Ohio to view the new model of the Estate Heatrola. It arrived on July 31st and is now on display at our store. The following letter is from Mr. Hal Stokes, traveling representative of the Estate Store Co. in this territory: Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 1st, 1929.

Friend Steve:

May interest you to know that you got the first No. 6 Heatrola shipped into Ohio. It pays to feed your friends turkey occasionally.

Yours (Signed) Hal

We might add that his reference to feeding our friends turkey alludes to the time that we took our good friend Hal home one day to help us pick turkey bones. That was back a few years ago when we could afford to buy a turkey.

Heatrola for cold weather but Leonard Refrigerator for the summer months. We have a number of new models in attractive color finishes to brighten up the kitchen, with a size for every home.

Incidentally, are you listening in on the Estate Weather Announcements each evening? The Estate Weather Man has something to tell you about FREE COAL.

Stanley Grand-Girard: "My son, every time you are a bad boy, I get a gray hair."

Son: "No fooling? Gee, you must have been a corker. Look at grandpa."

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Turner, who reside near the river bridge at Bloomfield, had us place a MONARCH Malleable coal range in their kitchen Saturday of last week. We are quite sure that Mrs. Turner will enjoy doing her kitchen work from now on. And we are also quite sure that the Turners are through buying ranges for the MONARCH MALLEABLE range has vitrified lining on all flues, and they cannot rust out. You folks that have an old range or cook stove that is just getting by would do well to drop into our store and follow the example set by Mr. and Mrs. Turner.

Blum, Circleville, secretary; A. E. Vlerhorne, of Lancaster, formerly of Circleville, treasurer; Mrs. O. A. Butcher, Lancaster, business manager; Mr. C. A. Reid, superintendent of grounds.

AMANDA MEMBERS WIN IN LANCASTER

Over three hundred people gathered at Rising Park in Lancaster for the annual 4-H club picnic of Fairfield-co. Friday. Games, contests and eats were on the program for the day. Two horse shoe contests were won by Amanda teams, composed of Frederick Shaeffer, Neil Abbott, Ralph Smith and Doyle Griffith. A third contest was won by a Rushville team represented by Frank and Pearl Webb. The Rushville club also won the baseball game with a team picked from several clubs. The score was 28-5.

Another feature of the day was the Style Revue to choose the girl to represent Fairfield-co. at state fair. The girl chosen was Margaret McFarland of Amanda. A preliminary display of garments made by the clothing clubs was another attraction. By 10:30 many clubs were on the ground ready for a good time and by 12 practically every one of the 45 clubs was represented. The events proved sufficiently interesting to keep the crowd busy until 4:30 and at 5 o'clock many clubs were still on the grounds. C. C. Lang, assistant State Club Leader was a guest at the picnic.
